

Background

ROCA firmly believes that we as an employer, manufacturer and contributor to the global economy should and must consider the world around us – the society in general, not only the requirements of legislation and regulation. ROCA's ambition is therefore to act in a responsible way in all aspects of our operation, in all relations and everywhere we operate.

What this means

ROCA acts in full compliance with all laws and regulations in every country we operate in. We comply with all customs and export/import regulations. ROCA works against corruption, bribery, facilitation payments or other improper activities. We respect human and labor rights (Universal declaration of Human rights, 1948, ILO declaration on fundamental principles of rights at work, 1998 and WTO guidelines and recommendations).

Additionally, we constantly work to improve environmental conditions and the sustainability of our operations.

How we monitor and control the above stated

We monitor our operations in order to assure full compliance with our code of conduct. This monitoring is an integrated part of our ISO 9001 and ISO 14000 quality system.
